ANNUAL REPORT

A MESSAGE FROM CFOS LEADERSHIP

It's been a fiscal year of extreme highs and lows; and through it all, we have forged connections through giving. The start of our fiscal year marked a historic height in philanthropy, not only locally but nationally as well. Things couldn't have looked brighter. But we all know now that unprecedented challenges were looming just around the corner.

First, a global pandemic struck, tragically taking lives and placing enormous financial and emotional strain on our communities. Then, violence and social unrest erupted nationwide. Through it all, CFOS continued its important work and became more mindful of the importance of seeking ways to increase equity in all we do.

For months, the CFOS team worked remotely. Our first course of action was the establishment of the Orange and Sullivan COVID-19 Response Fund to quickly and efficiently address the critical needs of those most vulnerable to the impacts of the pandemic. We remained mindful throughout the grant review process of societal prejudices and the complex needs of marginalized groups in our region. With the public's support, the fund has raised more than $558,000 and distributed grants to 86 nonprofits totaling more than $493,000. In a time when many felt isolation, we truly created connections through giving.

CFOS was also determined to move forward with our fifth annual Hudson Valley Gives to provide local nonprofits with a safe, online vehicle to receive donations while facing unprecedented challenges. By the end of the 24-hour effort, it was clear that even in the toughest of times, Hudson Valley residents are as generous as they come! $534,401 was raised for 133 organizations making a difference right here in our communities.

The Foundation is proud to be the umbrella organization administering more than 334 component funds year-round that improve the quality of life in our communities. We are humbled by this important role, and committed now, more than ever, to fulfilling our mission to connect people who care with causes that matter. Assuredly, these human connections are the key to a brighter future for all. Thank you for your unwavering support!

With appreciation,

Elizabeth Rowley

CFOS SUPPORTS NONPROFIT HEROES

Church at the Bridge is among the nonprofits addressing food insecurity.

WHEN THE PANDEMIC STRUCK, SOCIETY AS WE KNOW IT HIT THE PAUSE BUTTON. ALL BUT ESSENTIAL WORKERS STAYED HOME TO STOP THE SPREAD OF COVID-19.

The Community Foundation team began working remotely, committed to continuing our important work. We connected with a strong group of philanthropic individuals, corporations and foundations to establish the Orange and Sullivan COVID-19 Response Fund. This fund quickly and efficiently addresses immediate and long-term needs of the most vulnerable people right here in our local communities.

The fund continues to provide grants of up to $5,000 to nonprofit organizations providing critical response such as food for the hungry, shelter for the homeless, protective personal equipment for healthcare workers, and online access to education and therapies for students.

The Homestead School produced PPE for healthcare workers with a CFOS grant.

Operation Feed and A Single Bite are tackling rural hunger together in Sullivan County.

Montefiore St. Luke's Cornwall Hospital received a CFOS grant for PPE.

2020 HUDSON VALLEY GIVES RAISES HALF A MILLION DOLLARS

In a year of crisis and uncertainty, Hudson Valley Gives had its most successful campaign in the five-year history of the online initiative. Nonprofits in the region urged CFOS to move forward with the online day of giving on May 20th since their budgets were stretched thinner than ever and traditional fundraising events were canceled. By the end of the 24-hour effort, it was clear that even in tough times, Hudson Valley residents are as generous as they come. More than $500,000 was raised, the most in a single year since the collaborative online fundraiser began five years ago. Most of the more than $500,000 raised was donated online over a 24-hour period to support 133 nonprofit organizations throughout the region. The event exceeded this year's fundraising goal and saw a 25% increase in donations over last year. A total of 3,889 donors gave to support charities in seven counties providing life-enriching programs and critical services that Hudson Valley residents appreciate or depend upon.

HARLEQUIN DIVA FUND BUILDS CARING COMMUNITY

"My mission is not only to help financially but also to build a community of donors to help show people with ichthyosis that there are people that care about them."

—Jennie Riley

Jennie Riley's daughter Anna was born with a rare skin disorder called harlequin ichthyosis that causes the outer layer of the skin to harden. There is no cure, but bathing and exfoliating for several hours a day in a special tub and using healing ointments are currently the best course of treatment.

Community members generously helped the Rileys raise the funds needed to purchase the expensive tub for Anna when their insurance wouldn't cover it. Jennie was grateful, but also inspired to make sure no other families would go without the tub and skincare supplies needed to treat their children because of financial obstacles.

Jennie created a network of people willing to help. However, when she hired a company to design a website to receive donations, she hit a roadblock.

"They said I needed to be a foundation, which I wasn't. I was running the risk of losing people who wanted to donate," said Jennie. "I was looking into the legalities when someone told me about the Community Foundation."

"When Jennie reached out, I knew she embodied our mission of connecting people who care with causes that matter," said CFOS President and CEO Elizabeth Rowley. "She saw a need and rallied people with means big and small to help."

On July 31, 2019, The Harlequin Diva Fund joined the CFOS family of funds. Uniquely, this fund encourages donors to commit to a monthly donation as small as $2.

"We've created a community of support for families who often feel undervalued by society," said Jennie. "Those $2 donations add up, and we are now raising $1,000 per month."

"Jennie is inspirational," added CFOS Director of Development and Communications Nicole Feller Lee. "It wasn't enough for her to meet her daughter's needs alone; she has literally adopted the entire harlequin ichthyosis community."

"Everyone wants to make a difference in some way," said Jennie. "The Community Foundation allows small people to make a big difference! We are not only helping families financially but also showing people with ichthyosis that there are people that care about them."

TUSKEGEE AIRMEN FUND EDUCATES FUTURE GENERATIONS

The World War II Tuskegee Airmen were the first and only African American pilots and ground personnel to see combat during that era of segregation. Known as the "Red Tails" because their fighters had red-painted empennages, they were often requested as escorts by bomber units since they had a reputation of being excellent escort pilots. Under the guidance of their commander Benjamin O. Davis Jr., they would never leave their bombers, assuring the return of countless bomber crews. Few fighter pilots knew that their fearless protectors were African Americans.

When Glendon Fraser and Major General Irene Trowell-Harris established the Hudson Valley Tuskegee Airmen Endowment Fund at the Community Foundation of Orange and Sullivan in 2007, they were determined to educate future generations about these long unrecognized heroes.

"Many chapters of Tuskegee Airmen, Inc. have Tuskegee Airmen as members, but our chapter here in the Hudson Valley did not," said Fraser, President of the Major General Irene Trowell-Harris Chapter of Tuskegee Airmen, Inc. "We had to develop programs to create a lasting legacy for the Tuskegee Airmen from scratch."

To that end, chapter leaders created youth mentoring and aviation education programs about the airmen's contributions to both the war and the Civil Rights movement. They also developed the Lee A. Archer Red Tail Youth Flying Program with classes at New York Stewart International Airport and the Newburgh Armory Unity Center, as well as a summer aviation camp. Since its inception, the fund has disbursed more than $230,000 in scholarships to academically excellent high schoolers from the Hudson Valley.

Thanks to the Community Foundation's fiscal stewardship and the chapter's outstanding fundraising efforts, the fund will live on in perpetuity ensuring the Tuskegee Airmen's contribution to this country will never be forgotten.

"We are counting on today's young people to carry the word forward to future generations," said Fraser. "Through their work ethic and excellence, the youth will demonstrate that barriers can be overcome by hard work and determination."

"We are honored to support this fund and its important mission to educate future generations about these American heroes now and forever," said Elizabeth Rowley, CFOS President and CEO.
